

I urge M. Powell and the FCC to slow down on rules changes. What's the rush? Give the Senate and Congress an opportunity to study the impact of these changes more thoroughly. We are extremely concerned that once again the Bush Administration rejects valuable public input into the process of policy development, and law making. Let's remember, this is a democracy -- after all.